

SUSTAINABILITY AND GROWTH

B S S

ANNUAL

REPORT

We'll know we have succeeded when... We have sound financial management that not only continues to maximize resources, but focuses on revenue generation.

This was one of the goals under the Sustainability plank of Focus 20/20, BSS's current Strategic Plan, now in its fourth year. The Link caught up with Janet Ainslie, BSS's Assistant Head, Finance and Facilities, to see how the School is measuring up against our original objectives.

Q: We know that the economic climate out there has been challenging. How has this past year been for the School, from a finance perspective?

I am pleased to report that the School remains in a strong financial position. (Audited financial statement excerpts for the year ended June 30, 2009 are included in this issue of The Link.) Financially, it was a challenging year for all organizations. Heading into the 2009/10 school year, in the face of a grim economic climate, there was a lot of pressure to ensure that we had strong enrolment and that we could keep our community together, still be able to support exceptional students who were counting on financial aid, and keep current students in the School—a big part of which meant keeping tuition increases as low as possible for 2009/10.

We were fortunate that, thanks to the School's exceptional program and faculty, current students were retained, and through the hard work put in by our Admissions/Recruiting and Marketing departments, new enrolment was robust and we were able to maintain full enrolment levels for 2009/10.

Q: Did we have some people asking, in light of the economic conditions, why a fee increase at all?

We are fortunate to have a committed, passionate community who cares deeply about the School—and this also means asking the tough questions. We had many discussions with parents about the fee increase. Thanks to the crucial support of the Finance Committee and the Board of Governors, who worked really hard to ensure that it would be minimal, the result was a low increase of 2.9%. The BSS program relies on its outstanding faculty and innovative and advanced curriculum, and the reality is we had to increase 2.9% to maintain our leadership in these areas. When we made the decision to keep the increase as low as possible last year, we recognized that a modest fee increase like this was not sustainable for the long-term. Nonetheless, we were committed to doing whatever we could amidst such challenging economic conditions.

We also felt a responsibility to continue to enhance the School's program, consistent with the Strategic Plan. We managed to do it while keeping fee increases down to 2.9%, the lowest fee increase in over a decade.

Q: The lowest fee increase in over a decade is pretty impressive. How did we manage to do it?

We were able to maintain a low fee increase through cost control measures and savings initiatives we had already begun to implement. We were protected to some degree by our existing strong financial position with no debt financing, and we worked hard to meet full enrolment targets. Because the Foundation's financial aid transfers to the School are made one year in advance, the financial aid for the 2009/10 year was already in place.

Q: In a dismal year for the markets, schools everywhere were watching the value of their endowments drop along with stock prices. How was our endowment affected by the economic crisis?

It was certainly a challenging year for the Foundation. If there is a silver lining in all of this, I would say that the past year served to reinforce how outstanding our Board leadership is. We have incredible finance expertise on our Board of Trustees and they worked hard to monitor performance and minimize the losses in the context of the unprecedented market conditions. As of June 30, 2009, the value of the Foundation's investments stood at $12.7 million. To put it into perspective, the endowment experienced a negative return on investment of 12% for the fiscal year ended June 30, 2009—the total return on the S&P TSX equity index for the same period dropped 25.6%.

Q: What were some of the additional cost control measures BSS implemented?

Our push to green the School yielded significant savings related to an initiative spearheaded by our own students. BSS's Environmental Council and the girls really took this on and as a result we ended up with over $100,000 in energy savings compared to the budget in the 2008/09 year—and we continue to see these savings this year—this works out to about $100/student, and goes right back into our program to benefit the girls.

BSS also continues to develop relationships to enhance operational efficiencies with our business partners. For example, consolidating food and housekeeping services has yielded a significant cost savings via a partnership with Aramark, which also paid for equipment and facility enhancements to facilitate these services.

Q: Where does BSS's revenue come from, and where does that money go?

Revenue comes from tuition, as well as alternate revenue streams such as our Summer Academy and facility rentals. We are pleased with our initiatives to date to increase revenue generation, as outlined in the Strategic Plan, noting that revenue from these alternate sources has more than doubled since the start of the Strategic Plan.

Of course another critical source of support for the School is through fundraising. Donations from the BSS community, including our Parent Association, helps increase that margin of excellence in our programs, our facilities—and through financial aid—our girls.

As I mentioned, approximately 70% of the school's expenses relate to faculty and staff salaries and benefits and the remainder to running the exemplary program and the building—keeping the lights on and such! We are program driven so facility enhancements and expenditures are made based on program requirements.

Q: Does tuition cover the cost of running the program and the building?

In fact, it doesn't. Additional expenses are funded by alternate revenues and donations, a significant portion of which comes from our very generous donors. Our endowment donors provide support that impacts the students year after year, which is a huge factor when running a school with an outstanding program like BSS's. The reality is, we rely greatly on support from the BSS community, and couldn't provide our students with the opportunities we offer without that support.

Q: Thank you for your time, Janet.

You are welcome. Should any members of the BSS community have questions or wish to discuss the School's financial position, I encourage them to contact me at 416 483 4325 ext. 4205. ●

Janet Ainslie,
BSS's Assistant Head,

THE BISHOP STRACHAN SCHOOL ENDOWMENT

None of us can see into the future. Fortunately for girls in Canada and around the world, many of our donors demonstrate that they are visionary in their approach to philanthropy. By contributing to the BSS endowment, these donors see beyond just the 'here and now' by supporting an even brighter future for BSS girls. Endowment gifts are truly gifts that keep on giving. By preserving the capital of endowed gifts, each year funds are generated to support Financial Aid, capital improvements to the BSS campus, academic programs and more. We thank our donors who have demonstrated leadership by contributing to named funds. We also pay tribute to the many donors whose gifts to the endowment help us give longevity and depth to our belief that 'Girls Can Do Anything.'

“My experience at The Bishop Strachan School as a boarding student was transformational. I left with confidence and friendships that have lasted decades. I decided to leave a planned gift to BSS as my way of giving future generations of BSS girls an opportunity to receive the same experience that I had. I believe that BSS has so much to offer young girls who will become the leaders of tomorrow.”

—Cindy TRIPP '82, Gaudeamus Legacy Society Member, Current Parent

“After my first term at BSS, I told my advisor that choosing to come to BSS was the best decision I had ever made. Ten years later, I still feel the same way... I feel so fortunate to have benefited from all that BSS has to offer, and I am so happy to be able to give back to the School in any way that I can, to help ensure that generations of girls to come can enjoy the same opportunities.”

“My wife Corona and I are grateful to have our daughters attend The Bishop Strachan School, a remarkable learning community. BSS has enabled our two older daughters to excel at their university studies... Our whole family is so proud of both of them. Our youngest daughter Hester currently attends BSS and will graduate this June. By giving back to BSS, our wish is that other young girls get a chance to learn at this exceptional school.”

“I am passionate about the education of girls. There are so many terrific girls that could benefit from and offer much to the BSS community but their families do not have the financial means to send them here. I am pleased to think that in some small way, my contribution to the bursary fund is helping to open up an opportunity for a talented young woman.”
